Association: Its work of rescue; its pleasure. work of prevention and its work of education

ITS WORK OF RESCUE - This is not work, but it is first in the order of our thought this evening.

As a building is much easier torn down than rebuilt, so it is with the destruction of human character. It is very easy to tear down; it is not so for a Tacoma syndicate a large tract of education and wide and varied experi easy to build up. Now, of course, a land there, to be used as a coffee planwork that looks to the building of tation. T. W. Willing hands were stretched out to help him, but he said, "Never mind me, boys, flag that second Atlantic." There are men in our midst whom it may be too late to reach, but we have the boys in this city.

THE WORK OF EDUCATION .- The association educates in a three fold way. It develops the young man physically; it teaches him that he who controls his physical power for Jesus Christ as truly serves God in a gymnasium as the prayer meetings. Second, it educates through its evening classes in every day life. But more important than any of these is the education plantation), George N. Wilcox (Kekaha along spiritual lines. But enough of this. Being of a omewhat inquiring but bashful disosation I went to the Cathedral last Wednesday evening to attend the regular service held supposedly for the pishop's congregation. The general air of lonesomeness pervading the atmosphere caused me to pause at the door House if they thought their efforts and look in. I saw one solitary individual sitting on the right-hand side of the Cathedral whom I recognized when he rose from prayer to be the bishop himself. On the left were some fifteer poor tired-out Iolani school boys, the youngest I should judge to be not much over seven years of age, the oldest certainly not over fourteen or fifteen. In the choir there was also about fifteen other children, boys, of course, and With this improvement there will be difference between the officers of the from the same school, also with a general air of weariness about them. Members of the church readers of the STAR and residents a the city know that it is so, and that what I saw last Wednesday is merely For several weeks past a number of day services; that is, the bishop poor little children from his own school are his choir; Mr. Kitcat officiates the organist does his duty, and so the farce goes on. The principal grievano "Alfred" seems to have is that the occupies part of his time in teaching What about the bishop himself? Does of the association, gave the address of successful was because certain of the direction, with the result that the trio he not do the same thing? Whatever may be Mr. Mackintosh's merits or de merits, it has never been said of his that he coerced the children under his charge into attending church against beir will. To my mind the Anglican Church puarrel resolves itself into this. On he one side is the bishop and his choolboys; on the other a congregation d some foor or five hundred in accord with their paster. The bishop's services are distinguished only by vacant seats; at those of the Second Congregation tanding room is at a premium, and ret the bishop in his pronunciaments irtually denies the members of the second Congregation even the privilegof standing room. Has he not practi ally notified them that they will no onger exist as a congregation after a ertain date? Does he not set his ow dividual will against that of hundred others, most of whom are fully la qual mentally and otherwise? Wnilis true that he tells us he is bisho y the grace of God, and as such may interentially be supposed to acunder divine direction, is it not qually true that according to the as preached by Christ ospet himself that same Divine direction i not only offered, but accorded, to the vorst sinner in the world upon the slightest sign of repentance? In what is Bishop Willis so much better than any other member of the church in Hawan, over which he unfortunately presides? Does he not know what is patent to everyone, that the very church property of which he claims to be the ole custodian is not his and never has een, and that the Supreme Court of hese Islands once rendered a decision to that effect? And lastly, for his benefit, I will tell him that if he will quietly step down and out, money enough to omplete the cathedral could be raised in thirty days and the work done inside f a year.
